"The love that I have for my friends & family defines me" - Jeremy Allen Stanton

A proud USAF veteran, husband of 22+ years, father of two and friend to many; this level of passion finds its way into every bottle. Never one to shy away from hard work and with deliberate steps, Jeremy has never walked the easy roads in life.

Barrel Beard & Tattoo was formed from that experience, passion, high level of hard work and determination. Originally envisioned as just a passion product to help take care of his beard and tattoos as well as something to share with his friends and family; Jeremy wasn't satisfied with not putting all of his effort into making his oil blends the best imaginable.

As his oil began to take shape and become gigantic with bold scents that meant something to Jeremy and the idea of aging the blends like a great Whiskey; the original intentions were never overshadowed. The oil is still small batch, made by his hands, never more than 10 gallons at a time and still made with the same meticulous care. No corners are cut and they never will be, that just is not who Jeremy is.
